Prague. Universita Karlova.

The University of Prague (Česká universita Karlova, later Česká universita Karlovo-Ferdinandova) was founded in 1348 by Charles IV. In 1882 it was divided into two sections, a German (Deutsche Karls-Universität) and a Czech (Česká universita Karlovo-Ferdinandova). The estates and emblems remained in the possession of the German university. By ministerial decree of 1912, enacted Feb. 10, 1920, the old name was restored to the Czech university under the form of Universita Karlova, and at the same time the German university became completely independent.

In the Library of Congress catalog all publications of the Czech university (from its earliest beginnings) are entered under the heading: Prague. Universita Karlova. All publications of the German university from 1882 on, are entered under the heading: Prague. Universität.
